

For the nymph to pass the bechdel test
She must commit herself to memory

She must bow three times, wrangle up her spine Resist the flowers with all her might

Minimum of 1,600 SAT, ACT, CBS, AZT, CNN Compute, compute, compute

For the nymph to pass the bechdel test, she must stop talking to herself/she must dress the sirens dress the centaurs dress the drapery dress the dresses
press the tresses pass the presses past the past

She must will herself into the story of her own making, and remake it/retake it, re-populate it with the passing presence of our present tense She must make sense of it, desensitize herself to it, sensationalize the rest of the nonsense and ignore the fence she's built between her self and her senses
